Communication Disorders, BA

Student Learning Outcomes

Students will:

• know the processes for assessment and intervention of disorders of hearing, speech, language and swallowing;

• know the causes, characteristics and consequences of the disorders of hearing, speech, language and swallowing;

• understand the content and sequence of the development of speech and language;

• know the anatomical, physiological and psychological properties involved in the normal communication processes of hearing, speech, language and swallowing;

• demonstrate knowledge of the physics of sound and the measurement of its dimensions, and be able to apply basic principles of acoustics to human hearing and speech;

• gain an appreciation and insight into the communication disorders profession by participating in service learning opportunities.